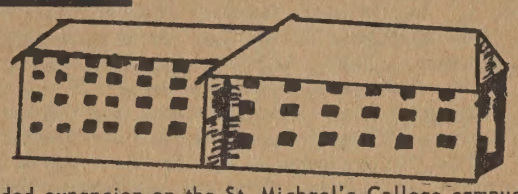
Dupont Resigns

Suprises Campus: SMC Presidency



During his administration, Father Dupont spearheaded expansion on the St. Michael's College campus of the physical plant, the educational resources, and quality of education at the college.

Very Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E., president of St. Michael's College, formally announced his resignation as president Thursday, Sept. 12.

The announcement, made public by Very Rev. Eymard P. Galligan, superior general of the Edmundite Order, came as a surprise to most members of the college community and touched off wide speculation in area periodicals concerning the choice of his successor.

The distinguished educator listed "personal reasons" as the cause of his resignation. He explained what some of these personal reasons were to the faculty Friday, Sept. 13, after having received a standing ovation from them.

When Father Dupont was appointed president in 1958, the office was seperated from that of the Religious Superior of the Community of Fathers of St. Edmund at the college. Rev. Vincent B. Maloney, S.S.E., a classmate was named religious superior and was succeeded in 1964 by Rev. Paul A. Morin, S.S.E.

Father Dupont's resignation came almost exactly ten years after his appointment as president of the college. During that ten-year period, major physical, administrative, and educational changes were effected at the college.

Father Dupont will serve as Acting President of the college until an advisory committee chooses his successor.

According to a statement issued by Father Galligan, all segments of the college community will be represented on the advisory committee to select the new president.

Members of the committee will be chosen at the upcoming Board of Trustees meeting next Friday and Saturday.

During Father Dupont's tenure as president, some five buildings, Alliot Hall, the Chapel of St. Michael the Archangel, the Durick Library, and Joyce and Lyons residence halls were erected on campus. Major renovations to several buildings on the North Campus -- the former site of Ft. Ethan Allen -- were also made under his administration.

A proponent of lay participation in Catholic higher education, Father Dupont recommend that 8 laymen be appointed to the college's Board of Trustees in 1966. He was also instrumental in the inauguration of programs which gave faculty a great voice in the college's administration, and students a greater measure of self-government.

Also in 1966, Father Dupont instituted a major administrative reorganization which culminated in the appointment of four vice-presidents to assist him in making plans for the college's future. Two of the vice-presidents, Arnold R. Schaid, College Affairs, and Robert J. Giroux, Academic Affairs, are also laymen.

During his tenure as president, the student enrollment of the college climbed from 800 to the present 1200, graduate programs were expanded, and numerous courses added to the undergraduate curriculum.

His administration also saw the appointment of a larger, highly academically qualified faculty; at the present time the faculty-student ratio at the college is about one to 13, one of the lowest in the nation.

The 55-year-old educator is a 1935 alumnus of the college. The University of Toronto and Institute of Medieval Studies conferred an M.A. and Licentiate of Medieval Studies, summa cum laude, on Father Dupont in 1943. He was awarded his Ph.D. in Philosophy, Magna cum laude, from the University of Montreal in 1958.

An instructor and professor of History and Philosophy at his alma mater from 1943 through 1946, he was named Dean of Studies at St. Michael's in 1946.

He served in this position through 1958, when he was named president of the college. During this 12-year period, he worked closely with the faculty of the college in developing a program integrating the arts and sciences in a liberal arts curriculum. Known as the "St. Michael's Plan of Studies," much of this program remains part of the curriculum, although some aspects were revised as the result of a curriculum committee report in 1967.

With Dr. Earl McGrath, former director of the Institute of Higher Education at Columbia University and now director of the Higher Education Center at Temple University, Father Dupont is the author of "The Future Governance of Catholic Higher Education in the United States", a survey of trends toward more and more lay control of Catholic colleges and universities.

330 FROSH REGISTER FOR FIRST SEMESTER

A total of 330 Frosh struggled through countless orientations, calls home to Mother, "Hi, how are yous" and that plethora of fun activities known as "Freshman Week" this year.

Classes began for the innocents Wednesday and, according to reports from the Director of Admissions Office, this year's bumper crop is one of the best prepared, sophisticated classes in recent years.

Scott McGuire, the new Director of Admissions at the college, reports that the entering Frosh have average SAT scores up several points from last year's entering freshmen and even higher than that of five years ago.

Classes began Wednesday for the Class of '72 while upperclassmen registered Wednesday and began classes Thursday.

Among the activities of this year's Freshman Week were a luncheon for the incoming class and their parents Sunday at Alliot Hall.

Later Sunday afternoon, Very Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E, president of the college, and members of the faculty and administration received the class and parents in the Alliot Hall lounge.

Orientation meetings were held for the freshmen during the three-day period with Rev. Raymond Doherty, S.S.E., director of Spiritual Affairs; Maj. Donald Larson, USAF, professor of Aerospace Studies; Edward P. Markey, director of Athletics; Robert J. Giroux, Ph.D., vice-president for Academic Affairs; Rev. John A. Stankiewicz, S.S.E., vice-president for Student Affairs; and Ralph R. Monticello, Dean of Men.

Geographically, the class comes from a total of 15 states and three foreign countries. Massachusetts residents total the largest representative body, with some 78 students from that state being in the class. Connecticut and New York follow in representation.

Throughout the week, members of the Crown and Sword Society, the campus' honorary service organization, assisted freshmen in adjusting to Michaelman life.

McGuire said the primary consideration in accepting a student for admission to the college is his high school record. He considers such information as SAT scores, rank in class and recommendation of the high school principal or guidance counselor as "validating criteria".

"We never reject a student on the basis of College Board scores or any other validating criteria," McGuire said. "These and other validating criteria assist us in our decision."

Hilltop Campus Undergoes Many Summer Changes

By Joseph F. Laiacona, S.S.E.

The new school year at St. Michael's began before any student had returned back to campus living.

It all started with a large amount of little and not-so-little improvements to the physical campus. Vernon Cross, director of buildings and grounds, and his able crew have been kept busy throughout the summer.

Little things like that walk between Alliot Hall and Joyce Hall, and curbs, and walks, and improved road-ways are new and long-awaited improvements.

But other improvements ably show how little these were. The biggest job done on campus is the yet to be completed renovations of Jemery Hall. The first floor old gym is being transformed into a post office and publications rooms. The second floor will be used for offices and seminar rooms.

In an effort to make the snack bar more a place to meet than to eat, it underwent a complete overhaul. Antigued wood replaced concrete walls; new tables and chairs will replace old wooden booths; and, a new lighting arrangement will cut down on the glaring neon lights.

The improvements to the snack bar are scheduled to be finished sometime in October to the tune of over $12,000.

Under the direction of Drs. John Hartnett and Michael Gianni, Cross & Co. have remodeled the second and third floors of Cheray Science Hall. Cyril Sloan and Roy Kennedy, both in the Fine Arts Department have moved their studio into the Student Center.

AQUINAS HALL

ROTC will be soon vacating Aquinas Hall and moving to offices in Austin Hall. Aquinas Hall, a wooden structure that has survived on campus since the days of World War II will then fall prey to the demolishers mighty arm.

In an effort to dry up some of St. Mike's perennial swamps, work will also be done on the drainage system.

Along similar lines, the Colchester fire district is now in the process of installing a new sewage disposal plant just across the street from the campus. It is being done in an effort to stop pollution in the Winooski River.

Cross also noted that Father Stabkiewicz has authorized almost $2,000 in each of the residence halls in an effort to bring more comfort to the recreation rooms of the respective dorms.

New SMC Faculty Members

Some 22 new faculty members have been added to the faculty of St. Michael's this fall.

Some four faculty members have accepted positions in the English Dept.; they are: Miss Joanne Napoli, John Doherty, John P. Reiss, and Donovan McDonough.

Miss Napoli is a doctoral candidate at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst while Doherty, who comes to St. Michael's from Renssalaer Polytechnic Institute, holds his Ph.D. from Yale University.

McDonough, the noted experimental film maker, is a doctoral candidate at the State University of Iowa while Reiss is a candidate for his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin.

Daniel J. Bean, who last year was the chairman of the Biology Dept. at Marist College, Poughkeepsie, N.Y., has joined the SMC Biology Dept. An ecologist, Bean is working on his doctorate at the University of Rhode Island.

New Chemistry Dept. faculty are Ronald H. Provost, who received his Ph.D. from the University of Vermont last June and Gilbert Grady, who was conferred his doctoral degree by the State University of New York at Albany.

Leo Bellerose, a professor emeritus of Georgetown University, who has taught at many St. Michael's College Summer Sessions, will join the Dept. of Modern Languages faculty. He holds a doctorate in French.

Donald Wehmeyer, an alumnus of St. Michael's, will head the college's teacher-training program. He was conferred an Ed.D. by Stanford University and, last year, was an assistant professor of education and Director of the M.A.T. program at Notre Dame.

Also joining the Education Dept. is Sister Margaret Theresa Gamache, F.C.S.P. A former member of the faculty of the College of Great Falls, Montana, Sister received her Ph.D. in Education from the University of Portland, Oregon.

Two new professors have join-

Accomplishment

"The ultimate aim (of education) is the freedom of mind that only a liberal education can give you." This sentence was the main theme of the very Rev. Gerald E. Dupont's final sermon as President at Thursday's convocation Mass of the Holy Spirit.

In his ten-year tenure, Father Dupont has done much to insure, foster and advance that type of education. He has tirelessly worked to make St. Michael's College one that all Michaelmen are proud to hail from and one that aims at making Michaelmen graduates that all Americans will be proud of.

It is easy to point out the physical growth of the college in the ten years of Father's tenure; but these buildings represent only part of the results of his fine service to our campus. We can in no way overlook the fact that Father has seen an increased enrollment while continuing the college's "small school" atmosphere - an atmosphere that has kept all Michaelmen from becoming numbers and statistics.

Father has been influential in upgrading the members of the faculty - notice the increased number of doctorates on campus - and in extending the areas of services available to the general student body - such as the opening of a counseling office.

Father Dupont noted that under ideal conditions of study "teachers and students become seekers after truth together" an ideal that he has done much to bring into a reality at SMC.

But Father Dupont has by no means been a president only for preserving the past and maintaining the present, he has spent most of his energy in preparing for the future of our college. He has started the college on the road into the future, a road that he has done much in order to keep the bright. He has planned for expansion, and indeed is even now bringing it about. Up on the Ethan Allen Campus he has just this year opened two newly renovated dorms. He has expanded classroom space on the main campus, increased the members of the faculty and administration and service departments. He has fostered and greatly expanded the graduate program.

All this was done for now - but with a very concerned and guiding hand for the future.

It is our heavy task to thank, on behalf of all Michaelmen - past, present, and future - Father Dupont for his ten years of distinguished work and to extend to him our wishes that his future may be as bright as that which he has given us.

A Mind Opener

Among the many interesting changes in this year's edition of "The Student Guide" is Section 5 of the General Regulations for All Students -- "Illegal Drugs".

As evidenced last year by the administration's willingness to allow St. Michael's students to participate in the UVM Drug Study and the concern of, among others, the Director of Guidance, the Dean of Men and the Vice-President for Student Affairs, drug usage by students at this college is no longer a "family skeleton". The carefully worded statement on illegal drugs in "The Student Guide", the first such mention of the subject, to our knowledge, further shows the administration's open-mindedness to "mind opening" experiences. The formerly tabu subject has been brought out into the open, where it definitely belongs.

Considering fad-conscious usage and, sometimes abuse, of illegal drugs and the accompanying hysteria on the part of most parents and in loco parentis college administrations, we find the St. Michael's statement on the subject both refreshing and quite sensible.

We hope that a drug user may "self educate" himself through the avenues suggested without fear of incrimination. "...Disciplinary action as shall be deemed appropriate." covers a multitude of sins and, if drug users feel they might be "busted", the methods of self-education suggested will be viewed with hostility and suspicion.

Sadly Missed

For returning upperclassmen and others who knew the pleasure of his company, George "Doc" Jacobs is sadly missed on the St. Michael's College campus.

With his untimely passing, an era marked by his amiability, kindness and understanding has also come to an end. For generations of Michaelmen, "Doc" was not only a friend, councilor, coach and athletic director but also a living symbol of the finest qualities any man ever donated to St. Michael's.

His encouragement of sportsmanlike ideals for all youth, whether involved in intercollegiate athletics or not, his constant willingness to listen to any and every problem, and his sincere devotion to excellence in all areas at St. Michael's endeared him to thousands of her sons.

"Doc" Jacobs will always evoke memories of the "golden years" at St. Michael's and of the truly great man who contributed so much to them. May he rest in peace.

THE OBSERVER

"The Observer" is a column open to any and all members of the college community. Columns of no more than three type-written pages (double spaced) or less should be submitted to the editor no later than the Sunday preceding the desired publication date.

MEETING THE CRISIS

(Adaptation of a talk given by Rev. Raymond Doherty, S.S.E., to a Hartford, Conn., Alumni-Freshman Dinner, Sept. 10, 1968.)

We are continually being reminded that we are supposed to be living in an "Age of Crisis." There are, for example, crises in the Church: a "crisis of Faith," a "crisis of authority," a "Vocations crisis," etc. There are crises of credibility and confidence in our government; a racial crisis; a law and order crisis; a crisis among youth, etc.

It is this tense climate of our times that prompted one editor of a national magazine to write recently: "If I had to choose a business this year, I'd sell remote islands. The revived fighting in Vietnam, the disorders in the cities, the mounting turbulence on college campuses, the haplessness of the political parties, the conflicts in the Church, the decay of the urban centers, the disdain of the arts for the traditional virtues and values -- all of these frustrations are choking us this year, even though we live in the most affluent, most powerful, best-educated society of history.

"No wonder life on a desert island looks attractive." (Fr. John Reedy, "Ave Maria," 9/14/68).

However, despite these seemingly pessimistic outlooks on our contemporary situation, I would like to submit that these times in which we live are, in fact, exhilarating! Surely, they are challenging and risky, but the various challenges and risks, I think, contribute to the exhilaration.

One of the reasons that our present era is a challenging one is due to intellectual unrest and ferment. Perhaps the people who are most fearful and discontented with our time are those who resent being questioned; those who feel inwardly uncertain about what they outwardly profess; those who no longer want to be bothered to reflect and to probe; those who see truth as black or white, as either/or.

On the other hand, there are those who view the search for truth as an ongoing process. They believe that we can always gain deeper insights to the truth -- and this requires intellectual effort -- and this is why their minds are active and restless . . . This is why they question and reflect and probe. (And why, too, some men pray.)

Although a formal Liberal Arts education is not the only way to open the mind (by no means!), it is -- or it can be and should be -- one way. And, due to increasing affluence in our nation, more and more young people now have the opportunity to be exposed to this way.

It is, however, an opportunity which, like the talents in the Gospel account, can be abused or misused or not used.

To quote again from the same Fr. Reedy piece: "In many families, parents rejoice in the intelligence, education, the human potential of their children and then agonize at the apparent waste as the young people vacillate without purpose or direction . . .

"We can sympathize with the bright, clear-eyed young people who see all the weaknesses and the unattractiveness of 'the system'; we can understand the temptation to drop out. But, eventually, they have to come back and live in some kind of a real world -- or else they are just creating a new system of wasted talent and opportunities." (Ibid)

St. Michael's College, we think, is a good Liberal Arts college. However, it is a human institution and is, therefore, subject to the human frailties of other human institutions and human beings -- like the Church itself; like our government; and (lest we forget) like ourselves.

We hope the new Freshmen will like St. Michael's College and that they will be genuinely happy and productive here. We know and expect that they will find some things to complain about. But, as one who is and who will be interested in them as a person, I urge them not that they will find some things to complain about. But, as one who is and who will be interested in them as a person, I urge them not to become a "dropout" from the college community, a rebel without a true cause. I exhort them to use the opportunity they are being given, an opportunity not only to develop their mind but an opportunity, also -- if they take seriously the Christian orientation of St. Michael's College -- an opportunity to grow as a person.

For the most part, the choice will be theirs to make.

"History of Black Man in U.S." Topic Of New Graduate Division Course

"The History of the Black Man in the United States: Before and After," a new course developed by Dr. Cleveland Williams, Chairman of the Political Science Department, has been introduced into the Graduate Division curriculum.

About the course, which began with the Fall semester, Dr. Williams commented that "since teachers are the ones who give impressions to students, it is important to enlighten them on the history of the Negro in its totality, in its proper perspective."

Also newly introduced to the Graduate curriculum is a course which devises a methodology for the introduction to the teaching of the Fine Arts in the secondary schools.

Born under the directorship of William Tortolano, Mus. D., Chairman of the Fine Arts Department, the program also includes Donald Rathgeb, director of dramatics; Cyril Sloane, artist-in-residence, and Roy Kennedy, sculptor.

The Fall Extension Program includes, among other courses: Voltaire I, Life, Works, Influence; Methods of Research in Guidance; Reading Diagnostics for the Classroom Teacher; Theories of Personality; Learning Systems in Education; Modern American Poetry; and American English Structure; Semantics.

Registration for all courses ends today at 11:30 a.m.

Ziter Named Pastor

Rev. Nelson B. Ziter, S.S.E., former Director of Spiritual Affairs at the college, has been appointed pastor of Nativity Parish, Swanton, Vermont.

The announcement of Father Ziter's new position was made by Very Rev. Eymard P. Galligan, S.S.E., Superior General of the Edmundite Order. Father Galligan also announced new appointments for other Edmundites recently affiliated with St. Michael's. Among them are the following:

Rev. David Bryan, S.S.E., graduate study, John Hopkins University.

Rev. William Condon, S.S.E., Assistant Chaplain, John McDonald Cartier Memorial High School, Greenfield Park, P.Q., Canada.

Brother Jude Rabideau, S.S.E., Edmundite Vocation Program, Mystic, Conn.

Bro. Charles Ranges, S.S.E., theological studies, St. Basil Seminary, University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada.

Rev. James Ryan, S.S.E., assistant mission director, Edmundite Southern Missions, Selma, Ala.

Rev. T. Donald Sullivan, S.S.E., post-doctoral studies, Fordham University, N.Y.

Rev. Paul Verret, S.S.E., graduate study, Catholic University, Washington, D.C.

Rev. Vincent Coyne, S.S.E., and Rev. Paul Pinard, S.S.E., CURATE, Nativity Parish, Swanton, Vt.

Faculty-Student Advisory Guidance Program Initiated With Freshmen

A new faculty-student advisory program, under the directorship of Rev. Joseph L. Hart, S.S.E., Director of Guidance, has been initiated with the incoming SMC Frosh.

Previously, a student was assigned a faculty advisor whose function generally was to see that the student was doing his work. The list of advisors was posted on bulletin boards and, if the student felt it necessary, he would contact his advisor. In the past advisors, for the most part, only contacted students when advised that the student was failing a course.

NEVER MET

Many upperclassmen on campus have never met their advisor, who, by the way, changes from year to year.

Under the new system, each incoming student will be assigned an advisor who will continue in his guidance capacity for the student's entire four years. at St. Michael's.

Advisors will be expected to meet with advisees at least monthly. In this way, the advisor and students will become acquainted so that, when and if a student is experiencing academic difficulties, there will be no need for quick introductions and so forth.

Duties of the faculty advisor will include more than the "negative responsibilities" of the existing advisors system. Advisors will be not only concerned with a student passing a course but also with providing mature guidance, contributing to the twin aims of education as indicated in the College catalogue: "mental development . . . accompanied by the development of virtue and good character."

When questioned about the means of selection for both faculty and grouping of students, Father Hart noted that the position of advisor was open to volunteers.

He also pointed out that news concerning the program was spread by "word of mouth" and a formal announcement made unnecessary at the recent faculty meeting.

Some faculty members expressed disappointment in this divergence from procedure, not formally announcing the new system.

Father Hart continued by stating that the "selection of students was at random."

There will be an average of 14 students assigned to one faculty advisor.

Faculty Positions

ed the Dept. of Physics. They are Eugene O. Mosca and Donald Marn, a doctoral candidate at the University of Vermont. Both will be involved with the new cooperative science courses being offered at the college.

Miss Ann Schnaubelt, Rev. Thomas J. Beary and Robert Heineman have accepted positions in the Dept. of Humanities.

Father Beary, Censor Librorum of the Catholic Diocese of Burlington, has had his literary and religious studies published in this country, Japan, Korea, Vietnam, Afghanistan, and Italy. He is also a veteran of duty in the Foreign Service.

Heinman, a Fulbright and Wilson scholar, comes to St. Michael's from Notre Dame. Miss Schnaubelt holds a master's degree in Humanities from the University of Chicago.

E.W. Fitzgerald, a June St. Michael's graduate, is the new Student Activities Director for the International Student Program.

Joining the Philosophy Dept. will be Alexander Stack and James Enright, master's degree recipients from Catholic University and the University of Illinois, respectively.

William Garret, who received his Ph.D. from Drew University, is a new member of the Sociology Dept.

New faculty in the Dept. of Economics are Gerald Kirchner and Allen Stoltzfus. Kirchner, who last year taught at Johnson State College, received his master's from the University of Vermont while Stoltzfus was conferred his master's by Tufts University.

Frank M. Bryan, who is a new member of the Dept. of Political Science, is currently a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Connecticut.

Seniors! If you haven't registered in the Placement Office with Mr. McDowell yet, you're losing out on the best way around to plan your postgraduate career, whether it be a job, grad school, Anne Bancroft, the service, or whatever.

Engels' First Poetry Collection Published

When the vast majority of poets publish their first volume of poetry, the poet and the work itself are left out in the cold as orphans in the literary world without much ado.

But in the case of "The Homer Mitchell Place", the first collection of poetry by John D. Engels, this is far from true. The "Pitt Poetry Series" of the University of Pittsburgh served as publishers of the work.

"If I had to name an excellent younger poet whose first collection has been longest overdue, the name to flash to mind would be John Engels," says Poet X.J. Kennedy. "Everything he writes is worth reading three times: some of his poems are worth reading over and over again indefinitely".

Poetess Abbie Huston Evans says Engels' work "reveals unusual capacity for feeling pulling the reader in, involving him in the search".

Professor Paul Engle, Director of the Writers' Workshop at the University of Iowa, remarks that Engels' poems "have a force of phrase which equals their power of idea."

In the main section of his book, Engels, who is regarded as a contemporary poet of high caliber, writes on domestic themes: his home, his children and his friends.

Contained within the volume are poems which Engels has had published since 1958 in several periodicals, including "Poetry," "Antioch Review", "Prairie Schooner", "Critic",, "Commonweal" and "The Reporter."

Engels will appear in the "Poets in Person Series" of the Carnegie Library's International Poetry Forum next Thursday in the Pittsburgh area where he will give readings of his works.

Hammarstrand Named Int'l Student Director

Robert E. Hammarstrand, Ph.D., has been named director of the Program in English for International Students, Edward Murphy, Ph.D., chairman of the college's English Department, announced today.

He succeeds Professor Ernest Boulay, who resigned last spring.

A native of Minnesota, Hammarstrand holds degrees from the University of Minnesota and the University of California at Berkeley.

He was a teaching assistant at the University of California before going to Madrid in 1954 to teach American literature at the University of Madrid. From 1956-58, he was a lecturer-consultant to the University of Madrid-American Embassy Casa Americana and produced 90 radio programs, titled "Aprendamos Ingles."

For the last four years, he has been an assistant professor of the methods of teaching English as a second language and foreign language teaching at Hunter College Graduate School.

At present, Hammarstrand holds membership in the Modern Language Association, Hispanic Society of America, American Council of Teachers of Foreign Languages and the New York State Teachers of English Association.

The Reason Why

Editor's Note: The following are excerpts from a memo to Rev. John A. Stankiewicz, vice-president for Student Affairs, Ralph Menticello, Dean of Men, and the officers of the Student Senate and Classes. The memo, dated May 24, 1968, is from Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E., president of the college.

"In the tuition fee there was included $20.00 per student as a Student Activities fee. The total of this is about $22,000. Last year $23,040 was appropriated.

"This spring I thought we could probably appropriate more money and cut out advertising. It seems, however, that with the budget still $13,000 in the red for 1968-69 that we shall have to cut more expenses. We do not want to harm faculty or essential services. Hence we have to get cuts from other areas.

"The Student Association Budget as submitted totals $37,077. It is reasonable and I wish we could offer the money. But we cannot. I therefore invite you to consider cuts amounting to $10,000. The following is a suggested list of cuts:

	As Submitted	Suggested Cuts
Debate Club	$ 1,000	$ 1,000
Lecture Series	4,000	1,000
MICHAELMAN	5,500	1,500 *
QUEST	1,000	-------
WSSE	3,000	1,000
SHIELD	8,100	2,100 *
Student Senate	9,000	2,000
Calendar	1,000	-------
Inter-house Activities	1,685	685
Glee Club	2,792	792
	$37,077	$10,077

You may wish to rearrange some of the above cuts. However, $10,000 must be cut.

* Restore privilege of soliciting ads. There should be a list of merchants to be solicited."

FACULTY MEMBER HURT IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Rev. Thomas J. Beary, newly appointed to the St. Michael's Humanities Dept. faculty, is currently recuperating at DeGoesbriand Memorial Hospital where he is being treated for injuries reportedly received when the car he was operating was involved in a two-car collision in Ferrisburg, Vt. in early September.

Henry Fairbanks, Ph.D., chairman of the Humanities Dept., reports that Father Beary, who underwent surgery for severe injuries as a result of the accident, is "anxious to begin classes."

CENSOR LIBRORUM

Father Beary, Censor Librorum for the Diocese of Burlington, is the author of numerous religious and literary studies, which have been published in this country, Japan, Vietnam, Afghanistan, Korea, and Italy.

Fairbanks said that Father Beary was injured when his car collided head-on with another vehicle in Ferrisburg. The injured priest was returning to Burlington after visiting his mother and sister, who live in Brooklyn. N.Y., at the time of the accident.

Dupont Resigns

of "The Future Governance of Catholic Higher Education in the United States," a survey of trends toward more and more lay control of Catholic colleges and universities.

This and other writings of Father Dupont have had an impact on Catholic education throughout the country.

Besides his service to St. Michael's, Father Dupont has served as a lecturer in Medieval Art at the University of Montreal and a lecturer and chairman of seminars concerned with administration, curriculum, and the office of the Dean, at Catholic University.

A former president of the Vermont Higher Education Council, Father Dupont is a member of that group's Commission on Higher Education Facilities.

He was named to the 15-member national committee of the National Catholic Educational Association earlier this year and has served that organization in numerous other capacities.

He is also the second vice-president and a trustee of the New England Colleges Fund and a member of the Vermont Council on Higher Education, of which organization he is also a former president.

Elected to Delta Epsilon Sigma, the National Catholic Honor Society, he is a member of Phi Eta Sigma fraternity.

Academic organizations to which he belongs include the American Historical Association, the American Catholic Historical Association, the American Catholic Philosophical Association, and the Vermont Historical Association.

Among other books of their kind, he is listed in "Who's Who in America"; "Who's Who in the East"; "Who's Who in Catholic Education"; and "Who's Who in American Education".

Vermont Artist Has Work Shown

The works of a newly-discovered Vermont artist will be shown for the first time during a St. Michael's College Art Exhibit September 30-October 19 in Alliot Hall.

The exhibit will be devoted to the paintings of Custer Ingham, who spent most of his life in Vergennes. His little known art works were discovered by Roy A. Kennedy of the College's Fine Art Department in a collection owned by Douglas Garno of Vergennes.

During a reception September 30 at 8 p.m. in Alliot Hall, Mr. Garno will deliver a lecture on the 19th and 20th century painter. Due to his employment as a young man in Ingham's photography-portrait studio, he gained a close and clear perception into the artist as a man.

Sullivan Joins Fordham Project

Rev. T. Donald Sullivan, S.S.E., Chairman of the St. Michael's College Biology Department, will be on leave of absence during the coming academic year to participate in a research project on water pollution at Fordham University, Dr. Robert J. Giroux, Academic Vice President, has announced.

Dr. John C. Hartnett, Professor of Biology, has been appointed acting department chairman for the year, Dr. Giroux said.

Father Sullivan taught at the college from 1939-42 when he was given a leave of absence for doctoral studies at Fordham. After receiving his doctorate in biology, he was named chairman of the biology department in 1947.

Father Sullivan was Vice President of St. Michael's from 1958-64. He was named a Trustee of the college in 1967.

CANCER RESEARCH

In 1952, Father Sullivan received a $10,000 grant from the U.S. Public Health Service for cancer research, one of the earliest government cancer grants to a small Catholic college in the nation.

From 1952-56, he received an additional $20,000 in grants for his work with holothurin, a compound extracted from the sea cucumber which was effective in reducing the size of fluid tumors and lengthening the survival time of mice who had been injected with ascites tumors. Using a compound by Dr. Ross F. Nigrelli of New York Zoological Society, Father Sullivan discovered that treated mice lived for nearly a year and mated. Untreated mice died within three or four weeks after injection of the malignant tumor.

New Plans for Library

Joseph T. Popecki, director of the Durick Library, has outlined two main objectives for what will be the first full year of operation. Primarily, he hopes to make the library a more vital force on campus, and, secondarily, to provide the optimum in professional service for the students and faculty.

Popecki declared, "a problem in colleges all over the country, is that the library is not effectively used in proportion to the investment that is made in it. Students tend to go to the library only when they are given a specific assignment."

"Much of their everyday work could be greatly facilitated by more thorough knowledge of not only what the library has to offer them, but how to use what is offered."

In this light, Popecki plans to work very closely with a few class groups to see what use they are getting out of the library, what information their teacher is providing regarding the library and how the library may better serve the needs of the class.

Hopefully, from this experiment, guidelines may be drawn and generally distributed.

"We must gear our activities to make the best possible use of the great investment that a library is," Popecki declared.

Another problem is to make the professional staff of the library available to the student. It is found that most students use the library in the evening, when the professional staff is not on duty.

To rectify this, a new schedule for permanent staff will go into effect and three new "library technicians" will begin a three-year training program in conjunction with the OEO Career Program.

Popecki stated that, "these technical assistants will be on a program of courses and on the job training that will enable them to provide students with the guidance that only a thorough knowledge of all library operations can provide. We hope to have a permanent staff member in the library at all times during our 102 hour week."

"Thinkers" Endorse Humphrey

On July 28, several weeks prior to the Democratic National Convention, one thousand of America's college and university professors publicly announced their endorsement of Vice President Humphrey as the "thinking man's choice" for next president of the U.S.

St. Michael's College representatives of the "thinking man's choice" are Robert Giroux, Vice-President for Academic Affairs, James Muldoon, Ph.D., History Dept., and George Olgyay, Political Science Dept.

S.S.E. HAS CHAPTER MEETING

By Joseph F. Laiacona, S.S.E.

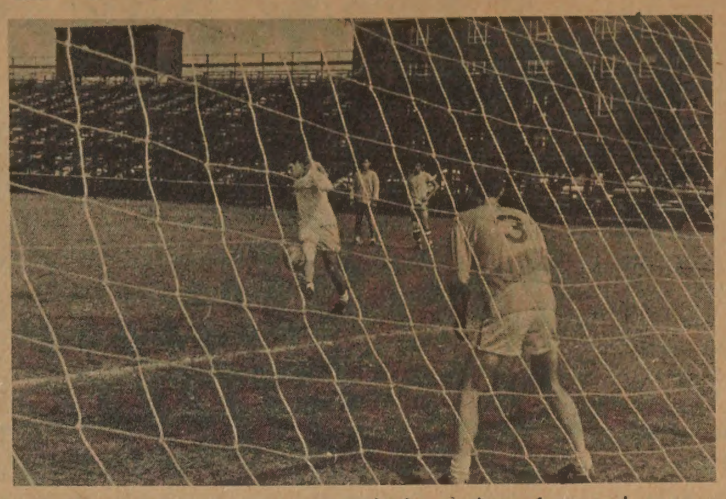
July 1 marked the opening of the Society of St. Edmund's first extraordinary chapter. The chapter, or meeting of elected delegates, was convened by Very Reverend Eymard Galligan, S.S.E., Superior General, in response to the Church's call to renewal.

Among the topics which were discussed were: the meaning and practice of the Vows; Community living; Retirement and Hospitalization; Present and Future Edmundite Apostolates.

Father Galligan was elected President of the Chapter, Reverend Francis X. Gokey, Secretary.

PLATTSBURGH WEDNESDAY

BOOTERS OPEN SEASON



Soccer star in a practice game kicks one home for a goal.

The 1968 version of the St. Michael's College soccer team may be one of the finest squads to be assembled in years.

Coach Robert Quinn began training the team over a week ago and, by today's scrimmage with Johnson State they should be in top physical condition.

Five home games are scheduled for the season, the first being next Wednesday against Plattsburgh State.

Sept. 28, the Knight booters travel to the University of Vermont for a contunuation of our rivalry with the Catamounts.

Returning lettermen include: Capt. Tom Rooney, Francis N'jie, "Bones" Cullem, and Joe Bergeron, four of last year's standouts. Junior Pete Wells has inherited the goalie spot vacated by Jimmy Lawler.

The loss of Bob Winship and Timmy Shea up front will hurt, but the sophomore prospects should help fill the gap.

The team has high hopes and, possibly, with a little student support, the team can go a long way.

The first game is Wednesday at 2 p.m. at home. Let's see some of that Class of '72 out rooting for the hard-working soccer team.

McGuire New Admissions Head

Scott McGuire, former Assistant Director of Admissions at the University of Ottawa, has been appointed Director of Admissions at St. Michael's.

McGuire succeeds Thomas Dunn, who has accepted the position of Dean of Admissions at Assumption College in Worcester, Mass.

McGuire, a candidate for a master of arts degree in theology at the University of Ottawa, holds degrees from St. John's Seminary, Camarillo, Cal., and the University of Ottawa at the present time.

He also attended Loyola University of Los Angeles and the University of California at Berkeley.

He has been on the faculties of the LaFortune Business College in Ottawa and the Dorval Catholic School Commission in Montreal.

SPORTS

KNIGHT'S KORNER

By RICHARD MARQUISE

It seems like only yesterday that many of us were hoping for the Bosox to pull the miracle of the century -- knock off the powerful Cardinals. Gibson and Co. were just too much for Yaz and Lonborg. When the odds are posted, I'm sure that the Cardinals will be favored to defeat the Tigers. If you thought the '67 Series was close, this year ought to be even better.

While Bob Gibson may be the best pitcher in the National League, Denny McLain is easily the best in the American. St. Louis has more depth in the starting four with Gibson, probable 20 game winner, Nelson Briles, Ray Washburn, and Steve Carlton. Larry Jaster is another alternate starter.

Detroit will counter with McLain -- Detroit's Mr. Everything Earl Wilson, Mickey Lolich and Hiller. In pitching, the edge will have to go to St. Louis.

Orlando Cepeda holds down first base for the Cards and he may have found the groove again. His average is getting closer to where it should be. Norm Cash and Al Kaline split first for Detroit. Cash, after an early season slump, is hitting again. Kaline, although not quite the same as a few years back, is still dangerous in the clutch. Even.

Dependable Julian Javier is not having his best year at second and Detroit's Dick McAuliffe is having one of his better years. Edge to Detroit.

Dal Maxvill of St. Louis easily has the edge both in hitting and fielding over Ray Matchick of the Bengals.

Although he was selected as an All-Star, Don Wert is struggling through a terrible year. On the other hand, Mike Shannon is having perhaps his best year. Edge to St. Louis.

In left field, we find a striking contrast. Speedy Lou Brock is hitting around .280 with nearly 50 stolen bases. Motown has a strong 40-homer-man, Willie Horton. Brock is said to be the sparkplug of the Cards. Edge to St. Louis.

Curt Flood is reputed to be the best center fielder in baseball. He bats .300 and covers as much ground as anyone in the majors. Detroit's Mickey Stanley is not outstanding, except for his broad range. Edge to St. Louis.

Jim Nothrup, having one of his better years, holds down right field for Detroit. Bobby Tolan and Roger Maris have split the position for St. Louis throughout the season and each have performed well. Even.

Bill Freehan has belted the ball all year long and, at the moment, would seem to have the edge over Tim McCarver and Johnny Edwards, his back-up.

If it is totaled up, we find St. Louis with a 5-2 advantage, with two ties. One thing Detroit has that St. Louis hasn't is a Gates Brown. Easily the best pinch hitter in the majors today, Brown has broken up many a game with his timely hits.

Another advantage would be Detroit's knack for getting back into a seemingly lost ball game. Someone has always been there to pick them up on a particular day.

American League pride is also at stake for Detroit. They will carry it into the Series with them and, along with the above-mentioned factors, the 1968 Series ought to be the best one in a long time. The outcome will be a little clearer after viewing the long awaited Gibson-McLain battle in the opener.

Knight's Prospects Bright As New Season Approaches

Working out to get in shape for the first big one against Providence Oct. 5, Alumni Homecoming, are these members of the Knights' Club Football Team.

By Wayne Braeuer

Well, sport fans, it's September and, happily, football season has once again rolled around. Arriving a week in advance of other Michaelmen, the 1968 version of the St. Michael's Club Football team has been hard at work in preparation for the coming campaign.

The opening sessions of double workouts were marked by a seemingly endless procession of agility drills, calisthenics, and sprints. Donning pads and hitting by Saturday, the boys soon discovered the penalty for those summer six-packs. The aching muscles and tortured lungs, however, has been overshadowed by an enthusiasm and an aggressiveness which bodes well for this season's eleven.

Coach Art Coggio, a star quarterback of fine SMC teams of the early Fifties, has retained the services of a capable young assistant, Steve Noyes. Steve was a starting guard and linebacker on UVM's crack squad of a couple of years ago. The additional coaching will undoubtedly solve the faulty timing which plagued last year's club.

While unguarded optimism is rare in football, the prospects for the coming fall must be described as bright. The offensive platoon was scarcely touched by graduation. Calling the signals will be senior John "Rebel" Lavelle who sparked the '67 Purple Knights after taking control at mid-season. Forming the nucleus of the backfield will be Senior Leo McLaughlin and Junior Paul La Bella. McLaughlin, the powerful workhorse of last fall, runs from the fullback slot. LaBella, a darting, slashing runner his freshman year, was hobbled last season by an injured foot.

The interior line is anchored by Junior Rick Lawler at center and Sophs Bill Piscione and Jerry Flanagan at guard. All three have been through the wars and can move. The end positions are currently held down by Junior Chris Fialkovich and Senior Jerry Stanwick. This year's offense, featuring a tight T, should exhibit some classy rushing with "Reb" passing off the "play action."

The uncertainties of this fall's squad lie mainly with the defense. Graduation of linebackers Paul Seymour and Paul Lynch and several lineman have left a gap down the middle. Bolstering returning backers Bill Koop and ck Lawler will be Sean Moore, a starter last year at defensive end. Pat McKenna, Mike Shea, and Mike McElroy, all of whom saw limited action last season, can be counted on to provide strength on defense.

Not included in the above picture are the many first-year men who wil give the team necessary depth and, almost surely, some new faces on the starting team.

Kicking off the fall campaign will be Providence College, Saturday, October 5. The Friars ripped the Knights last time out 21-0 in Rhode Island, flashing an explosive ground game and a quick defense. This year's meeting, during Alumni Homecoming Weekend, should prove to be a different story if the Knights live up to their potential.

Record Broken

Candlestick Park was the scene Tuesday and Wednesday of baseball history. Gaylord Perry of the San Francisco Giants fired a no-hit, no-run game against Bob Gibson and his high flying Cardinals on Tuesday. Less than 24 hours later, Ray Washburn of St. Louis threw a 2-0 no-hitter against the Giants. This was the first time that two no-hitters were pitched in succession in one ballpark.

Cagers Televised

There is a possibility that the 1968-69 home basketball games of St. Michael's will be televised by Channel 22, a new, Burlington-based, UHF station.

This announcement was made jointly by Jack L. Siegal, general manager of the station, and Edward P. Markey, Director of Athletics at St. Mike's. The agreement for telecasting the games will cover three years, if it is possible.

The major difficulty will involve transmitting the broadcast signal from Burlington Memorial Auditorium to the station's studios and transmitters, according to Siegal.

If the proposed telecast goes through, the station will devote five minutes of half time to interview a representative of the college, who would discuss current activities on the campus.

The college will play ten home games this seasons, the first coming on the fourth of December against Norwich University.

Other home games will be with Middlebury College, A.I.C., St. Anselm's, Central Conn., UVM, St. Lawrence University, Stonehill College, Southern Conn., and Lemoyne College.
